

Hi My Name is...

Subject Specific Vocabulary		Associated Diagram	Sticky Knowledge
Self	Who you are and what makes you different from others, unique and special.	  	Everyone is different and this is something to be celebrated. We need to be tolerant of different opinions and behaviours and help each other.
Body	The physical structure of you which include your bones, muscles, skin and features.		There are lots of different emotions that we can feel. We are working towards identifying main emotions happy, sad, tired, angry in ourselves and in others and what that can mean.
Emotions	Strong feelings inside that can change.		There are many habits and ways we can look after our bodies to keep them healthy these include eating fruits and vegetables, drinking water, sleeping well, taking part in physical activity and brushing our teeth.
Healthy	Being free from illness or injury.		Families can vary in size. Some families can include a mum and a daughter, some other families are much bigger and include, grandparents, aunties and uncles.
Family	A group of people who come together as a unit such as aunties, mums, dads etc.		Homes comes in many different shapes and sizes. They can be as small as just one room, or they can have hundreds of rooms. They can have several different levels or other homes joined on to them. Homes need to be made of strong materials such as mud, clay, bricks, stone and wood.
Friend	A person who share a bond with, cares for you etc.		Identifying main features of a simple map of our local community such as roads, parks and buildings.
Home	A place you live with family. You might have more than one home.		Identifying buildings and their uses such as homes, libraries, shops and places of worship.
Community	A group of people living in the same area.
Library	A building that has collections of books which you can borrow.
Map	A drawing to show the features of an area such as buildings, parks and roads.		